Objective:

In the academic year 2024-25, the New Beginnings Mentorship Program was introduced for the students who have entered the 1st year and are making a new beginning in the college ecosystem. As the environment is new, there are a lot of questions running in the mind of these students for which they need guidance. Through the New Beginnings Mentorship Program, seniors from 3rd and 4th year volunteer to provide the much needed hand holding required by their fellow first year juniors, offering them support and guidance whenever they need. It's a great way to bond and build a sense of community and ensure that these new students feel supported by someone who has already been through similar experiences and navigated his/her way ahead.

- Work towards building their trust and friendship first, provide them a safe space to open up and refrain from breach of confidentiality if personal issues are shared
- Mentors should drop their judgements and move beyond their differences with them if any, only then can they help in an unbiased way
- If there are some differences with any of the mentees, be the bigger, more accommodating person
- Mentors can direct the mentees to people from their network if they can't guide them on certain things
- In case a mentor feels that some situations are beyond his/her capacity to deal with, the mentor is supposed to get in touch with the class teacher of their mapped mentee
